The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-12 and 24-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Grushkin et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grushkin et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Applicants' argument, that Grushkin et al does not teach the element of supplying a first reagent stream comprising chlorine gas and a second reagent stream comprising ammonia gas to a reaction zone maintained at a temperature of less than 250 C or providing chlorine gas and ammonia gas to a reaction zone maintained under conditions effective for chlorination of ammonia, at a temperature of less than 250 C, is not convincing, since applicants have not explained why a temperature of "at least about 250 C", as disclosed by Grushkin et al, would not include temperatures of 248 or 249 C, for example.

Claims 11-13 and 24-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Holst et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action. Applicants' argument, that Holst et al does not teach that the reaction zone is configured to be maintained at a temperature of less than 250 C, is not convincing, since whether or not the reaction zone were maintained at a temperature of less than 250 C is a method limitation and would depend upon whether one would heat or cool the reaction zone, and to what temperature, and would not modify the apparatus structure disclosed by Holst et al.

Claims 2 and 14-23 are objected to as based on rejected parent claims, and would be allowed if written in independent form.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
